

THE GLOBAL eLEARNING JOURNAL
VOLUME 2, NUMBER 1, 2013

LETTER FROM THE EDITOR

Winter 2013

Welcome to the first edition of the Global eLearning Journal for 2013! I think you will find the articles in this edition very diverse and informative. This issue contains a preview article for the upcoming Spring Issue dedicated to a series of articles contributed from International scholars who submitted manuscripts to an International Symposium to be held on the campus of Texas A&M University-Commerce.

The primary mission of this chronicle is to motivate a continued interest for research in this field. The chronicle provides an opportunity for the discussion of issues that guide, impact, or transform digital learning around the world. The chronicle seeks to promote scholarship and creativity in a S.A.F.E. world through Global Scholarship, Awareness, Fluency and Engagement.

All submissions to the Global eLearning Journal are subjected to a double blind review selection process. Scholars, administrators, policymakers, educators, and students who wish to shape the future of Global eLearning in Higher Education are encouraged to submit manuscripts.

I hope you enjoy this Issue of the Journal!

Regards,

Rick

Rick Lumadue PhD
Editor-in-Chief